

Strikes Engulf Britain

Work Halt Would Effect Part of Exports

LONDON (AP) — Britain's booming aviation, automobile and heavy machine tool industries were hit by the full force of a million-man walkout today. But prospects of a speedy over-all industrial peace brightened.

Strikers outside plants guarded by picket lines were told by union bosses new talks in London might lead to a settlement of wage disputes.

The walkout in the factories is the first stage of a "snowball" strike patterned to involve three million workers in 4,300 plants by April 6 if a wage increase demand is not met. If it spreads that far it will paralyze plants turning out 40 per cent of Britain's exports.

The stoppage began Saturday and involves workers known here as engineers. They range from unskilled workers operating light switches to craftsmen running complicated machinery. Since plants normally are closed over the weekend, the full effect on production was only felt today.

Labor Minister Iain MacLeod has appealed to employers to meet with the unions.

The strike is being masterminded by the Confederation of Engineering and Shipbuilding Unions, which also has been running a strike of Britain's 200,000 shipbuilding workers for the past 14 days.

Gambler Faces Lie Tests For Murder

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A self-styled gambler faces lie detector tests today in the strangulation of a pretty divorcee who officials believe may have been murdered in St. Louis, brought 416 miles and dumped in a creek near here. Jackie Ray Lawson, 27, described as a "cool and cocky egotist," will be questioned further about his relations with 20-year-old Mrs. Credia M. Mallady whose body remained nameless here a week before relatives identified her Saturday.

Lawson, who admits living with the dark-haired woman in St. Louis but says he has not seen her since he left there Feb. 27, was arrested and jailed after the identification. He was questioned most of yesterday.

Sheriff Ralph J. Paul said Lawson will be taken to the State Bureau of Criminal Investigation and Identification at London for the tests.

Paul said Mrs. Mallady has never been placed in Columbus in his investigation. Her body, with a plastic clothesline twisted around her neck, wrapped in a bedspread and stuffed in a sack, was found March 16 in nearby Darby Creek by a group of youths fly fishing. Hundreds of persons examined the body at Franklin County morgue before relatives identified her.

Lawson, who was arrested at a supermarket here where he was working, said he left Columbus for St. Louis by bus late in January and met Mrs. Mallady several days later, Paul said.

He told authorities he moved into her apartment immediately. He said he lived in St. Louis off money he made gambling and returned to Columbus when he could not find work there.

EARTH FLEXES HER MUSCLE—Tremendous forces unleashed by an earthquake are indicated by this shattered section of coastal highway near Edgemar, Calif., some 10 miles south of earthquake shaken San Francisco. Auto tire tracks, bracketed by arrows, are dwarfed by earth movement that is causing a section of shoulder of the road to slip toward the ocean, background.

WHY SAN FRANCISCO QUAKES — Newspaper shows how San Francisco lies on the San Andreas Fault, one of the best known and perhaps the largest earthquake formation on earth. Beginning off the coast of Oregon, out in the Pacific, it extends southward and eastward toward Eureka, Calif., and runs on through San Francisco and then south through the coastal mountains, to lose itself eventually in the deserts of southern California. It is along this 2,000-odd mile rift in the earth's crust that tremendous pressures build up. When the intolerable tons of weight become too much, the earth shifts, causing the many light earthquakes felt in California from time to time, and, over a period of many years, disastrous earth shifts such as the great earthquake of 1906 and the recent series of severe tremors.

Obstacles In Canal Removed

No Official Word by Egypt On Opening

CAIRO (AP) — A U.N. salvage team today raised the sunken tug Edgar Bonnet, the last obstacle to passage of 10,000-ton ships through the Suez Canal.

The 841-ton tug was to be towed away during the next several days but there was no official word yet when Egypt will open the 103-mile waterway to 10,000-ton ships. About 75 per cent of the canal's normal traffic before it was blocked during the invasion last fall.

The 1,461-ton Egyptian frigate Abukir still partially blocks the southern entrance to the canal, but the 10,000-tonners can skirt this obstacle. U. N. officials have said the Abukir should be cleared by April 10 and that the waterway will then be open to all ships that formerly used it.

U. N. Secretary General Dag Hammarskjöld's mission to Cairo meanwhile, neared its end amid indications Egypt would make some concessions on operation of the canal. But the outlook on the disputed Gaza Strip remained dark.

The Egyptian Middle East News Agency said Hammarskjöld and President Nasser had reached an understanding on the future of the canal. A spokesman for the secretary general warned that the report should be "treated with caution." He said the U.N. official was in no position to make any formal agreement with Egypt since he was only the "bearer of good offices" and not a party to the canal dispute.

At the same time, informed Arab sources said Egypt was unwilling to sign any pact keeping the U.N. Emergency Force on the demarcation line unless Israel agrees to stationing of UNEF troops on her side of the frontier. Egypt is also demanding that Israel quit the El Ajja demilitarized zone, between the Egyptian Sinai Desert and Israel's Negev, as provided in the 1949 armistice.

Israel is expected to refuse both Egyptian conditions. Diplomatic sources believe Nasser may have convinced Hammarskjöld Egypt's still secret plan for operating the canal is consistent with the six principles endorsed by the U.N. Security Council last October.

These principles include unrestricted transit through the canal for ships of all nations, respect for Egypt's sovereignty, insulation of the canal from national politics, agreement between Egypt and canal users on tolls and charges, a fair portion of revenue for canal development and arbitration of disputes.

Additional Soil Bank Allotment Given to County

The Pettis County ASC office now has authority to accept all the additional acres which farmers offered when they signed their corn Acreage Reserve agreements this year.

C. A. Staples, chairman of the Pettis County ASC Committee said this week that the new authorization will mean an additional $84,344.30 income to Pettis County farmers from Acreage Reserve payments.

A total of $361,859.20 had been signed up in corn acreage agreements by the March 8 deadline, and the new acreage will bring the total to $446,203.40.

Anyone who signed an Acreage Reserve agreement on an old farm corn allotment by March 8, and who indicated then that he wanted to put more acres into the reserve if funds became available, can now go in to his county ASC office and sign an agreement covering the additional acres.

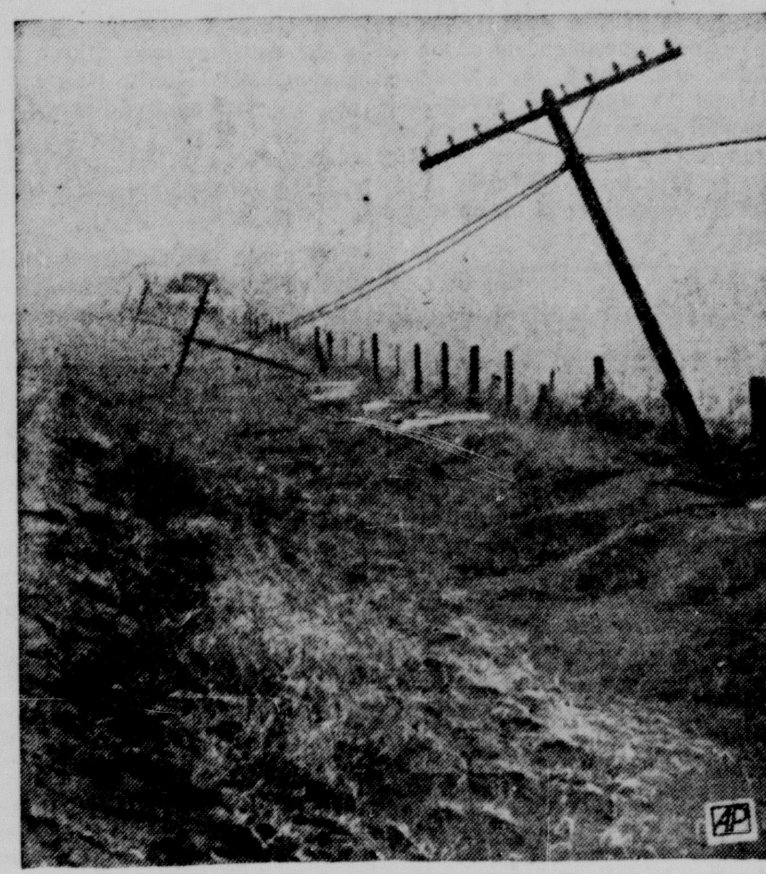

The county ASC office will notify farmers individually to come in to sign new agreements, Staples said. The corn acreage sign-up in Missouri began on Feb. 4 and ended on the deadline date, March 8. The farmer could sign over to the Acreage Reserve either 20 acres of corn land or 30 per cent of his allotment, whichever was greater. At that time the farmer indicated whether he wanted to put more acres into the reserve. He could offer any number of additional acres up to the limit of his allotment.

This new authority from Washington will mean a gain of more than 4.7 million dollars in Acreage Reserve payments to Missouri farmers.

Six Die In Traffic

JEFFERSON CITY (AP) — Missouri's highway deaths reached six for the week ending last midnight, as the year's toll continued to lag behind last year's figure.

The week's fatalities made it 50 for the month, 186 for the year to date. Last year at this time, the record read 21 for the week, 69 for the month, 224 for the year.

To Look at Union Dispute

Governor to Sign Idle Fund Measure

JEFFERSON CITY (AP) — Gov. James T. Blair said he probably would sign today a bill outlining the formula by which Missouri's treasurer may invest idle state funds.

Unless he finds something wrong with it, the governor said, he will sign it during the day.

The governor also said he would look into the running fight between State Correction Department officials and a union representing several hundred prison guards.

Corrections Director James D. Carter and Warden E. V. Nash had notified the guards they have until April 1 to get out of the union or lose their jobs—based on an earlier Supreme Court decision. The court ruled that St. Louis police department personnel—or any officers whose duty is to protect the public—cannot serve two masters.

The union, the State, County and Municipal Employees Union, Local 674, has announced it will stand fast in its effort to represent the guards.

Blair said he couldn't quite see how the organization could identify itself as a union because by its own by-laws it has no right to strike and apparently has no collective bargaining rights either. Blair said he would talk to Carter and possibly representatives of the union in the next day or so to see what settlement can be made.

Clarence Cordes, 35, was driving his 1952 Mercury north on Highway 65 and was making the north and east curve when a 1949 Hudson sedan driven south by John Wesley Lankford, of Marshall headed south made the cutoff to go into Sedalia on Osage.

The front and right side of the Mercury was damaged and the front end of the Hudson was damaged.

Lankford was booked by the police for careless driving.

Family, Friends Witness Ceremony

Whittaker Takes Court Oath

WASHINGTON (AP) — Charles Evans Whittaker today became an associate justice of the Supreme Court by taking oaths to support the Constitution and to administer equal justice to poor and rich.

Members of his family, associates in a long law practice, and other friends were among spectators in a crowded court chamber who saw the 56-year-old Kansas City, Mo., jurist take his place as successor to Justice Stanley F. Reed.

Shortly before noon, Whittaker stood before Chief Justice Warren and swore to uphold and defend the Constitution against all enemies. This brief ceremony took place in the court's closed conference room, with seven associate justices as witnesses.

The justices then marched to their places in the public court chamber. There, Whittaker stood before the court clerk, John T. Fey, and took the judicial oath—promising to give equal justice without respect to persons.

The new justice was then escorted by Marshal T. Perry Lippitt to his seat at the south end of the high mahogany bench.

Justice Harlan, seated to Whittaker's right, reached over to shake hands and whisper his congratulations. Whittaker smiled and nodded his head to Harlan.

As he sat down, the new justice gave a slight nod and smile to his family, nodded to Atty. Gen. Brownell, and then settled back to begin his work on the top tribunal.

Among those witnessing the swearing in was retired Justice Reed.

Just before Whittaker took the judicial oath at the clerk's desk, Chief Justice Warren announced that the new justice had taken the constitutional oath in a private ceremony.

During this week and next, Whittaker and other members of the now fully-manned court will listen to arguments in a long list of appeals. The new justice also will begin studying hundreds of pending petitions, which ask the court to grant hearings on scores of legal issues.

Members of Whittaker's family witnessing today's swearing in included his wife, three sons and Mrs. Keith Whittaker, daughter-in-law of the justice.

Attorneys present for the event included Henry N. Ess, Douglas Stripp and Samuel J. Molby, members of the Kansas City law firm where Whittaker was a partner before he went on the federal bench.

In the last three years, Whittaker has been a federal district and appeals court judge. His nomination for the nation's highest court was approved by the Senate last week.

Blizzard Hits 5 Plains States

Drifts Reach 20 Feet High; Livestock Loss May Be Big

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A punishing spring blizzard left the high plains sections of five states in snowbound paralysis today and whipped with diminished fury across northern Missouri and southern Iowa toward Illinois.

Four deaths were attributed to the storm.

The snow tailed off in western Kansas and Oklahoma but strong winds still whistled it through the air and piled up house-high drifts.

It was nothing like the blinding fury of the blizzard which stung southwest Nebraska, eastern Colorado, western Kansas, the Panhandles of Oklahoma and Texas and the northeast tip of New Mexico over the weekend.

Winds reached 80 miles an hour over the high plains Saturday and Sunday. Drifts up to 20 feet high choked roads and rail lines, leaving thousands marooned along the highways and stranded aboard trains or at the nearest emergency shelter they could find.

By early today Kirksville, Mo., had 10 inches of snow, Omaha 9 and Lamoni, Iowa, 7; but the winds were down to 25 and 35 miles an hour. Forecasters predicted eight inches of snow through northern Missouri and southern Iowa today, with blowing and drifting in Iowa.

In the blizzard area highway crews, National Guardsmen and Civil Air Patrol pilots went to work again at dawn seeking out the marooned.

Searchers believed they would find some dead in cars buried under mountainous drifts.

Estimates of stranded travelers in the six states ran as high as 7,500 but most of these had gained shelter when the swirling snow blocked roads and rail lines.

Highway patrols estimated 1,600 stranded or marooned in Colorado, 1,200 in Kansas, 1,000 in Texas and 2,200 in New Mexico.

Two storm-caused deaths were counted in Nebraska, one each in Texas and Kansas.

Ranchers expected livestock losses to be huge.

The heavy, wet snow and powerful wind snapped power lines and poles, leaving many cities without power. Service was being restored slowly. Telephone service was available only where there were underground cables.

Besides the hardship, the storm brought much-needed moisture to the area. At Broken Bow, Neb., it was called a "90 per cent beneficial storm."

Blair Halts Execution Of Convicted Murderer For the Second Time

JEFFERSON CITY (AP) — Gov. James T. Blair today stayed the execution of convicted murderer Robert Burnett until May 31 and ordered a psychiatric examination of the 21-year-old slayer.

Blair said Burnett had been sent to State Hospital No. 1 at Fulton for mental tests because the prison psychiatrist, Dr. Henry V. Guhlman, had concluded the prisoner "has the mind of a six of seven year old boy."

It was the second time the St. Louis Negro's execution has been delayed by the governor. Before that, the Supreme Court found nothing wrong in his original conviction and sentence but the actual execution was delayed for months because of an appeal to the Supreme Court of the United States.

He was convicted of killing a St. Louis grocer during an attempted holdup Dec. 25, 1954.

Snowstorm Hits North Missouri

Leaves Up to 12 Inches at Some Points in State

KANSAS CITY (AP) — The Great Plains snowstorm nipped northwestern and northern Missouri today, leaving snow up to 12 inches at some points.

The snow moved in Sunday and the Weather Bureau forecast a continuation of the fall with prospects of heavy snow in the extreme north this afternoon. Tuesday is expected to be cloudy with snow in the north and east central sections.

Maryville had seven inches of snow. The Missouri Highway Patrol reported snow measuring up to a foot in that area. Tarkio, in the extreme northwest corner, also reported a foot.

Many highways were blocked in the area. Many motorists were stranded overnight.

Near Princeton it was reported more than a hundred motorists were stranded, some spending the night in their cars, others at farm houses.

U. S. 65 was packed with snow from the Iowa line to 15 miles south of Chillicothe. U. S. 71 was blocked about eight miles north of Maryville by an eight-foot snow drift.

To the east, Kirksville had six inches of snow.

The Weather Bureau said the snow would be locally heavy in the extreme north.

The weekend rains and snow were welcomed by farmers and stockmen in the generally dry area of northern Missouri.

Some representative precipitation reports for the week ending at 6:30 a.m. today included: Kirksville 2.61, St. Joseph 2.42, Kansas City 2.30, St. Louis 2.23, Farmington 2.29, Columbia 2.20, Joplin 2.18, Springfield 2.14, Butler 2.13, Sedalia .98, West Plains .79 and Malden .75.

Maryville's total moisture measured 2.46.

The moisture was regarded as of immediate benefit to pastures and early gardens and of long range benefit to the sub soil.

George P. Smith Jr., Jackson County extension agent, said the soil had been moistened to a depth of about two feet. But he pointed out the sub soil is dry as far down as 10 feet.

Wrong Hiding Place

EL MONTE, Calif. (AP)—A California highway patrol car chased but lost a speeding sports car. Shortly thereafter a sports car pulled in behind a warehouse and the driver got out.

A man there asked the driver what he was doing. "I just ditched a highway patrolman, and I want to wait here awhile," he said.

"Not for long—you're under arrest," said the man, identifying himself as Albert Rein, an off-duty sheriff's deputy.

The sports car driver, Kenneth Greene, 27, was booked on a misdemeanor charge of evading arrest.

Fires

A barn owned by Floyd Snodgrass, Clarksburg, was recently destroyed by fire. It was on property rented to Mrs. Margaret Caldwell. They were unable to save the barn but did keep the fire from spreading to adjoining buildings. The origin of the fire is unknown.

Accidents

Three Negro soldiers from Ft. Leonard Wood were injured about 3 a.m. Sunday on North Highway 65, a half-mile north of the Marshall Junction.

The other two were Earl Timothy McIntyre, 23, driver of the car and James Evans, 39, who were found to have only minor bruises and were dismissed.

The car, a 1957 Chevrolet sedan, was demolished. Headed north, the car went out of control, according to McIntyre, as he went around a curve, skidded and went off the highway, crashing into a ditch. It was later towed to the Vawter Garage in Marshall by a wrecker from there.

Trooper Robert Stockdell gave McIntyre a Highway Patrol summons for careless driving. McIntyre is to appear in court at Marshall.

ABWA Has Friendship Tea And Program

The American Business Women's Association gave its annual "Hand of Friendship Tea" Sunday afternoon at the home of Mrs. LeRoy Luchs, 120 East Seventh, with Mrs. Ellen Luchs chairman of the tea.

The afternoon tea began with a group of songs by Shirley Deuel, Shirley, who is a freshman in high school, has a very lovely voice and sang: "Tea for Two," "Deep Purple" and "Alice Blue Gown." She was accompanied by Mrs. LeRoy Luchs.

Mrs. Evelyn Rabourn, president of the local chapter of ABWA, then presented a panel discussion on the organization with Miss Emma Kraft, Mrs. Mary Alice Snyder and Miss Margaret Bohon as panelists. Mrs. Rabourn served as moderator. The American Business Women's Association, Miss Kraft said, is an educational association. The need for such an association to increase the efficiency of business women was felt, a number of years ago, bringing about the organization. There are now 150 chapters, she said, in 43 states with 9,000 members.

Mrs. Snyder told of the program which is cultural and educational, helping to increase earning ability. The members receive a magazine, she said, "Women in Business," which gives new ideas and information, there is free consultation, also, on letter writing, sentence construction or any information needed for writing. The magazine gives tips, too, on personality and there is also a personality analysis given.

Miss Bohon told of the benefits from membership in ABWA, both nationally and locally. The member receives a pin, reduction on costs at various resorts, an automobile insurance as well as many other things including friendships made through the association and the fellowship at local meetings.

Mrs. Ella Luchs then invited all into the dining room where the table was covered with a lace cloth and centered with an arrangement of white carnations and chrysanthemums in a gold container. On either side were two gold candles in crystal holders. Tea sandwiches and cookies were served with punch along with candy and nuts.

Guests of the ABWA at the tea were Mrs. LeRoy Luchs, Miss Effie McCulloch, Shirley Deuel, Mrs. Sammie Howden, Mrs. Joyce Van Deventer, Mrs. Alberta Allen and Mrs. Marie Cuddy.

When you buy a pleated garment remember:

- Pleats the same width at the top and bottom—made on the straight of the material—are re-set quite easily.
- Pleats wider at the bottom and narrow at the top—are more difficult to re-set.
- Pleats made on the bias of the fabric tend to sag with wear and cleaning.
- A pleated garment made of a closely knit fabric has better pleat retention than one made of loosely-knit fabric.
- Petti-pleated or corrugated pleated garments must be taken apart and sent back to the pleating firm for re-pleating.

CONSTIPATED?

New laxative discovery un-locks bowel blocks without gag, flat or gripe

Constipation is caused by what doctors call a "thrifty" colon that, instead of retaining moisture as it should, does the opposite: robs the colon of so much moisture that its contents become dehydrated, so dry that they block the bowel; so shrunken that they fail to excite or stimulate the urge to purge that propels and expels waste from your body.

To regain normal regularity, the dry, shrunken, constipating contents of your colon which now block your bowel must be re-moistened. Second, bulk must be brought to your colon to S-T-R-E-T-C-H STIMULATE it to action; to a normal urge to purge. And, of all laxatives, only COLONOID, the amazing new laxative discovery possesses COLONOID's great moisturizing capacity, plus COLONOID's stretch-stimulating bulk. So effective it relieves even chronic constipation overnight, COLONOID is yet so smooth, so gentle it has proved safe even for women in critical stages of pregnancy. Superior to old style bulk, salt or drug laxatives, COLONOID neither gags, bloats nor gripes; won't interfere with absorption of vitamins and other valuable food nutrients; in clinical tests, did not cause rash or other reactions. It's a physiological fact: Exercise tones your body! And COLONOID exercises your colon to tone it against constipation, overnight! Get COLONOID, in easy-to-take tablet form at any drug counter, today! Only 98¢ for the 60 tablet package, brings positive relief at less than 2¢ per tablet.

VOTE X FOR The School Levy

On Behalf of Our Children

Get The Facts and You'll Vote and Work For The

SCHOOL LEVY

Vote X "YES" ...

- Because, since the 1956-57 one-year levy is no longer in force, no money is now provided for operating schools beyond the $1.00 Constitutional provision.
- To provide the facilities necessary to serve our large and growing enrollment.
- To continue high AAA school rating and full recognition by state and national educational organizations. Low rated schools cause a decline in property valuation.
- Because unless the levy receives a majority vote, school income will be reduced so drastically that only a curtailed 7-month school term can be offered our young people in 1957-58. We must not let this happen.
- To enable our schools to meet the higher operating expenses caused by the rise in over-all prices during the past ten years or more.

• BECAUSE...

You know in your heart that schools are indispensable . . . that Sedalia's schools are operated on a low tax dollar because Sedalia's assessed valuation is low, but that even with the present tax money, our schools are equal of any—and that a competent, conscientious administration of school affairs has made all this possible at a cost that is considerably below the average cost in other communities.

WHAT IS THE PROPOSED LEVY?

The proposed School Levy to be submitted to Sedalia Voters on April 2nd, will provide revenue for employment of needed teachers, and for adequate salaries for present teachers. The proposed levy would make the total school tax rate for next year as follows:

- a. $1.00 Levy by Board.
- b. .16 Present rate—Levied by Board on sinking and interest on present indebtedness of $364,000.00.
- c. 1.10 Proposed for our approval at the April Election.
$2.26 Total tax rate for 1957-58.

Remember, This is Not An Increase Over Our Present School Levy! GIVE OUR KIDS A CHANCE!

Time To Buy Easter Seals

This week Pettis countians will begin receiving letters inviting them to participate in activities of the Pettis County Society for Crippled Children and Adults.

Inside these envelopes will be traditional Easter Seals whose lilies and tulips symbolize the cause to further the rehabilitation program for crippled children and handicapped persons.

The work of the Pettis county society is a continuous one. The past year demands on the meager treasury funds have been exhaustive to provide care, treatment, medically prescribed appliances such as braces, wheel chairs, artificial legs and arms, transportation to therapy centers as a part of the rehabilitation program, included in which was $1,200 to the Crippled Children's Center.

"Every dollar the Society gets, the Society spends in this approved humanitarian project," according to John C. Mc-Closkey, chairman of the Easter Seal campaign.

Last year Seal money was inadequate to underwrite all the expenses incurred because demands were so great. Fortunately help came from a few volunteer contributors during the year.

To meet normal needs and expand the Crippled Children program a fund of $4,500 is required. The Society can get by with $4,000 which is too tight a budget for Pettis County. Raising $4,500 means only a 15 cent contribution from every Pettis county person. This year when your Easter Seal letter comes, do not toss it aside. Give it the serious consideration it deserves. Your generous contribution will stimulate the courage and determination of the handicapped who so desperately need help.

Lausche Prods SEC to Police Wall Street

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON — Ohio's Sen. Frank Lausche, much publicized at the opening of Congress, hasn't been getting many headlines lately, but he has been doing some quiet and effective homework.

The other day he yanked the Securities and Exchange Commission, supposed to be the policemen of Wall Street, up to Capitol Hill for a secret grilling as to why they hadn't policed the manipulations of the amazing Hitler refugee, Leopold Silberstein, who seeks to acquire Fairbanks, Morse.

Lausche pointed to what seemed to be three violations by Silberstein of his Penn-Texas Corporation. He wanted to know why the SEC hadn't referred them to the Justice Department.

J. Sinclair Armstrong, handsome young SEC Chairman who is anxious to slide over to a job as Assistant Secretary of the Navy before getting involved in too many Wall Street squabbles, was peeved. He complained that previous closed-door testimony before Senator Lausche had leaked, had no plausible excuse for not referring possible violations to the Justice Department.

Senator Lausche, dissatisfied, polled the individual commissioners. A majority of them agreed with Armstrong.

Refugee Silberstein is an astute, fast-moving financial wizard, who during his eight short years in the U.S.A. has built up a corporation controlling Colt arms, part of Pratt-Whitney (a machine tool company, not the company that builds the Pratt-Whitney engines), Elyria Foundry, Liberty Aircraft Products, Industrial Brownhoist, Quickway Truck Shovel, Hallcrafters Co., and who now seeks to acquire Fairbanks, Morse, old-line makers of scales.

The three possible violations of the SEC laws which Lausche pointed to were: 1) Failure to disclose promptly to the SEC and Penn-Texas stockholders various transactions in Fairbanks, Morse stock; 2) Failure to disclose certain transactions with Swiss banks; 3) Failure to disclose promptly certain profits arranged by Silberstein with people he induced to buy stock.

The negotiations are complicated but important, in view of some fears that another depression might be in the offing. A big stock bubble, bursting on Wall Street, might help spark a financial toboggan. Here are some of Silberstein's manipulations:

Manipulation No. 1 — David L. Subin, Lansdale, Pa., hosiery manufacturer, has been on the board of Penn-Texas or closely related to its financial dealings since 1951. Yet last week Silberstein filed a sworn statement with the SEC that he had not known until March 14, 1957 that Subin on Aug. 1, 1956 had sold 30,700 share of Fairbanks, Morse stock to English Transcontinental Ltd. of London, which then sold or transferred the stock to the Union Bank of Switzerland, and that the bank on the same day sold them to Silberstein's company, Penn-Texas.

Silberstein admitted in his sworn statement that these shares were acquired through Francis I. Du Pont and Co., and that his son-in-law, Peter Cats, working as broker for that firm, "serviced the account." Son-in-law Cats has a direct phone to Silberstein's desk, yet Mr. S. claimed he knew nothing about the transaction until March 14 when, belatedly, it was filed with the SEC.

Incidentally, more than one-half of the $36,000,000 worth of stock Silberstein bought in his battle to take over Fairbanks, Morse, passed through the hands of his son-in-law.

Manipulation No. 2 — Silberstein also informed the SEC that on March 14 he learned for the first time that Jacques Sarlie, who has been director of a Penn-Texas subsidiary since 1953, sold 10,000 Fairbanks, Morse shares to English Transcontinental Ltd. on Aug. 1, 1956, which on the same day sold them to Penn-Texas.

No Protection For Stockholders
The SEC has information that "English Transcontinental Ltd." has always been the personal forwarding address of Silberstein when he goes to England.

Manipulation No. 3 — Mr. S. bought over 100,000 shares of Fairbanks, Morse from Simon Jaglom, with offices in the same building, but made no prompt disclosure, as required by law.

Manipulation No. 4 — Silberstein bought over 100,000 shares of Fairbanks, Morse from Sarlie, who also has an office in the same building, but made no prompt disclosure to the SEC until February 1957.

The last bloc of Fairbanks, Morse stock Silberstein contracted to buy from Sarlie was for delivery later this year. In an agreement made Jan. 28, 1957, Silberstein was to take delivery from Sarlie of 60,000 shares of Fairbanks, Morse stock in May, June and July of this year, at a price of $69.875 per share, thus guaranteeing Sarlie a profit of $600,000.

If, however, Sarlie offers the shares to Silberstein and Silberstein doesn't have the money to pay, it is agreed that Sarlie can dump them on the market and Silberstein's Penn-Texas will make up the difference. To indemnify Sarlie, it was agreed that Penn-Texas would deposit $1,000,000 in cash to protect the transaction.

However, there was no provision to protect the stockholders in case Penn-Texas stock dropped out of sight as a result of these many manipulations. There are 33,000 holders of Penn-Texas stock, many of them small investors. While Silberstein has been dabbling with their stock, its value went down from $20 to $11. Meanwhile, his battle to acquire Fairbanks, Morse stock sent its value up from $30 to $60.

To meet his obligations in the next four months Silberstein will have to raise $18,000,000. In addition, to raise money for this proxy fight, he has sold and leased back five of Penn-Texas' major properties, with obligations to pay $65,000,000 in guaranteed rents over the next 20 to 30 years.

This European type of financial wizardry is what worried Senator Lausche and why he hauled the Secommissioners before him to ask why they had not referred the entire matter to the Justice Department.

Happenings In March

Every month has its anniversaries and other things besides the blizzard of '88 and the "Ides of March" and the Income Tax (now extended) have taken place in this month that comes in like a lion and goes out like a lamb.

To summarize a few of them—March is Red Cross month; Lent is observed this year through most of March; a new nation, Ghana, has been created in Africa; the Monitor fought the Merimac in 1852; St. Patrick's Day is always March 17; Spring arrives March 20; Franz Joseph Haydn was born March 31 in 1732 and Samuel Pepys recorded on March 13, 1665, in his famous diary:

"This day my wife began to wear light colored locks, quite white almost, which, though it makes her look very pretty, yet not being natural, vexes me. I will not have her wear them."

Thought for Today—

The World Today

Ike, Macmillan Are Silent About Nasser

By JAMES MARLOW

Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON — Most of the statement by President Eisenhower and British Prime Minister Macmillan — on what they agreed to at Bermuda — was a collection of banalities. It sounded more tired than vigorous.

For example: They agreed it's good to have military allies. That's hardly news. They said they will continue support for the reunification of Germany. No one expected otherwise.

Nor, to continue the example, did they have to go to Bermuda to agree, as they said they did, that they: sympathize with the Hungarian people; think Russia is repressive; believe all countries should have liberal trade policies; have a common interest in European unity within the Atlantic community.

But they said not a word on the most important, immediate problem facing them: what they will do, individually or together, if Egyptian President Nasser keeps on kicking up his heels.

All they said — without mentioning his name — was to indicate they hope he will comply with united nations' resolutions for restoring peace to the Middle East.

They may have reached agreements not put in writing. It's doubtful for example: Macmillan has favored a strong hand in dealing with Nasser; Eisenhower has preferred handling him through the U.N.

This Bermuda meeting, which ended Saturday, was intended to patch up the American - British split over the British-French-Israeli invasion of Egypt. And maybe it accomplished just that.

But this meeting, judging from the statement issued after it was over, did not look like a warm or hearty get-together. The two men simply said they were "well satisfied with the results of this conference."

Eisenhower and Macmillan did reach positive decisions on three points:

1. The United States will let Britain have American guided missiles. This was a natural step, besides saving Britain money trying to develop similar weapons, since Britain is in the front line of this country's own defense.

The British—because of a ban in American law—won't get the atomic warheads to go with the missiles. But warheads will be stocked in Britain. In an emergency — a Russian attack — they would certainly get the warheads.

2. It was agreed the United States and Britain will continue testing nuclear weapons while trying to keep fall-out to a minimum. They invited Russia to watch their tests, if Russia will return the favor by inviting them to watch hers.

This is a gesture toward creating some mutual confidence between the West and Russia—since neither side has trusted the other enough so far to agree on disarmaments — although no secrets would be given away.

3. The United States agreed to take part in the work of the military committee of the Baghdad Pact, a military alliance made up of Britain, Iraq, Iran, Turkey and Pakistan. Those five allies must be saying: "It's about time."

Four of the allies are on Russia's southern border. The alliance is aimed at Russia. But the United States, which inspired the pact in the first place, not only refused to join it but even refused to take part in the military planning.

The reason: The Arab nations objected to the pact and this country wanted to pacify the Arabs. As the statement shows by one omission, Eisenhower still has his eye on the Arabs for he didn't say this country would now join the pact.

HIGHLIGHTS AND SIDELIGHTS FROM YOUR STATE CAPITOL

It will be business as usual in the state legislature on April 2, the date for city elections throughout Missouri and for a state-wide election on a proposed pay raise for members of the House and Senate.

Warren Hearnes, House majority leader, said the House would work on election day. He said members felt it "wouldn't look right" for the lawmakers to take a holiday on an election day at which the legislators have a direct stake.

The Senate, however, will not meet that week until 2 p.m. on election day. This will permit senators to vote in their home districts before coming to the capitol. Representatives will have to cast absentee ballots if they wish to vote on the pay raise amendment.

Hollis Ketchum, state liquor control supervisor, would be out of a job if Rep. Harry Keller (D-Kansas City) has his way.

Keller introduced a bill recently which would require the state liquor control supervisor to be a lawyer with at least 10 years experience. Ketchum, who has recently conducted a crackdown on liquor law violations in Kansas City, is not a lawyer.

Keller's bill would also cut the salary for the liquor control supervisor from $6500 to $4500 a year. Another bill is pending which would increase Ketchum's salary to $9500 a year.

Another House bill passed recently would compel persons with communicable tuberculosis to be hospitalized.

Sponsor of the proposal was Rep. Charles James (D-Dunklin County) who said Missouri cannot now force TB germ carriers to enter a hospital or other quarantined area. He said persons from other states with laws requiring compulsory TB hospitalization now flee to Missouri to avoid being hospitalized for their disease. As a result, he said they frequently become welfare charges and endanger the health of Missourians.

A proposal to control water pollution in Missouri has finally gained approval of a Senate committee after 2½ months of study.

The water pollution bill was introduced in the Senate Jan. 8. It will receive its first consideration on the Senate floor this week. Its sponsor, Sen. Jack Jones (D-Carrollton) said he expected considerable opposition on the Senate floor.

The bill prohibits pollution of streams and lakes in Missouri. It sets up a board to regulate the discharge of industrial waste and sewage into streams and provides stiff penalties for violations.

Jones said opposition was expected from senators representing metropolitan areas. These areas might be required to set up additional sewage treatment plants to avoid violating the water pollution proposal—if passed in its present form.

Fiscal Problem
WEST POINT, Va. — The town council here had some difficult fiscal decisions to make—there was too much money in the treasury.

The city fathers came up with this solution — water bill minimums to be $1 instead of $2, and town auto licenses to be reduced from $5 to $2.50. If this fails to get rid of the surplus more drastic steps will be taken.

Hardy And Noisy Politics

Wisconsinites Piqued Over The Slight to McCarthy

By Esther Van Wagoner Tufty

Of Our Washington Bureau

MADISON, Wis. President Eisenhower's "stupid" snub of Senator Joseph McCarthy may re-elect the Senator next year.

So said William Evjue, the crusading editor of The Capital Times, which, along with The Milwaukee Journal, vigorously fought McCarthyism in the days when it was not a popular political exercise.

Students at the University of Wisconsin found to be anti-McCarthy but they saw something not "quite sportsmanlike" in the President's not inviting McCarthy to the White House. They said, "Why kick him when he's down?"

Older people here in Madison and Milwaukee criticized the President for his "belated criticism" and recalled that during the 1952 campaign Presidential candidate Eisenhower had deleted praise of his friend General Marshall out of his Wisconsin speech at the request of candidate Joseph McCarthy, who had made many damaging remarks about George Marshall.

The Republican Voluntary Club even took official action at a Milwaukee meeting so great is the excitement over the White House slight. A violently worded resolution censoring President Eisenhower for failing to invite Wisconsin's junior Senator to White House social functions was lost through a tie vote after a stormy debate. The vote was 24 to 14.

The original draft of the resolution opened vigorously stating that the President had seen fit "to insult Wisconsin and its junior Senator."

A pro - McCarthy Republican, Donald R. Sweeney, asked that the President be condemned for "his spineless action against McCarthy thereby insulting Wisconsin." After groans and heated debate "spineless" was changed to "unwarranted."

Other GOP groups took action, too, in this state where politics is always hardy and noisy.

The Young Republicans of Milwaukee adopted a resolution requesting the President apologize to Senator and Mrs. McCarthy for not inviting them to White House receptions.

But perhaps Senator McCarthy will enjoy most a letter written for The Capital Times editorial page by an old political enemy who saw an insult to the State of Wisconsin in the much talked-about incident. William Gorham Rice is a Professor at the University and known for his liberalism and abhorrence of McCarthyism.

As to the possible effect on McCarthy's chances for re-election in 1958 many agree with editor Evjue that they have been enhanced. Maybe enough to discourage former Governor Walter Kohler from seeking to upset his nomination in the GOP primaries.

Kohler has sent out some trial balloons in questionnaires. But unless the conservative-minded GOP boss Tom Coleman deserts McCarthy (and this is called unlikely) it is widely predicted that Kohler will not want to be in the race.

Thinking It Over

By Robert L. Dieffenbacher, D.D.

The bulbs which we planted in the ground several months ago have sprouted. Soon they will liven the landscape with brilliant colors.

For many weeks these bulbs lay dormant in the cold ground. To the casual observer they appeared dead or non-existent. Gradually the earth was warmed by the glow of the sun coming nearer to the earth. This warmth brings them, first, to life, and then to full bloom.

Frequently our spirits appear dead and unfruitful. We are cold in our relationships with God. Some experience of worship warms our souls and a new bloom comes forth in our lives. We burst forth into full fellowship with God and our transformed lives give radiance to our surroundings.

During Lent we must absorb the warmth of God so that new life may be ours at Easter.

Integration in Egg Business Is Not Expected to Develop

Greater Risk Seen As Factor In Coop Project

By Walter Russell
MU Extension Poultry Specialist

One of the hottest topics in the poultry industry today is integration. If you subscribe to poultry magazines you have probably read various opinions on this subject and are wondering how it is going to affect you. The independent egg producer is worried about the prospect of "big business" taking over the production and marketings of eggs.

Before I give you my opinion on this subject, let me describe what we mean by integration. To integrate is to combine or unite segments of an operation. In the broiler industry this combining process has gone in several directions but may include breeding, hatching, feeding, growing, and processing operations.

This is the type of operation that worries the egg producer. He recalls what it has done to the broiler industry. Under a totally integrated setup, the grower generally benefits during periods of low prices but may sacrifice a chance of making the highest profit during periods of high prices. Most people agree that integration has been largely responsible for the continued over-production of broilers and the resulting low prices.

We should realize there is a trend toward integration in the egg business. Several large corporations or companies are now offering "package deals" to producers which usually include plans for financing and marketing of the product. How far such programs will go and what effect they will have on the independent producer is still a matter for debate.

I personally believe that integrated programs will never develop to the extent they have in the broiler business. Reason is the greater risk involved with laying hens and the money is tied up over a longer period of time. Then too, many farmers will not be so anxious to get involved in such an enterprise once they get a normal crop season and opportunities develop in other enterprises requiring less labor.

Some types of cooperative integrated programs will continue to exist. Such programs are needed in many areas of the state but they should allow the producer some flexibility in planning and carrying out his own operation. Instead of guaranteed prices for eggs, there should be premiums paid for top quality eggs at a rate above the regular paying price. This will allow price to function according to supply and demand.

I have a feeling we will continue to see a decline in the number of small, poorly kept flocks in the state. This is a good trend as I see it if we are to keep pace with other progressive businesses. However, I do believe there will always be a place for independent producers who have efficient size flocks and are producing top quality eggs.

Such producers have some definite advantages over totally integrated producers. They should be able to produce eggs cheaper because they should have less fixed cost and less feed cost per dozen eggs. They should be able to market these eggs on a graded market, retail market, or direct to consumer for a premium above the unclassified price.

If I were a producer I would certainly analyze my present operation very carefully. I would find out what is required to bring it up to date. I would make the necessary changes as quickly as possible and quit worrying about big business taking over egg production.

It is true, you can expect some lean years ahead and you can expect some good years. This would happen in spite of any attempts to integrate the business. I am confident the outlook for profits in years ahead is not much different than the years just passed. Record keepers in Missouri have averaged about $2 labor income per hen. Management has played the greatest roll through these years in determining profit. I expect the same will hold for the future.

PROPER SOIL SAMPLING METHODS

The series of pictures above illustrate four methods of taking soil samples for testing. Composite samples should be taken to represent the surface seven inches of each different kind of soil in the field.

Numbered from one to four are the following—soil auger, sampling tube, brace and bit and spade. If the individual samples are taken with an auger, sampling tube or brace and bit, the whole amount of soil taken can be put into the composite but if taken with a spade, use only a uniform one-inch vertical strip from each slice.

Care of Equipment Effects The Success of Your Garden

By Arthur E. Gaus
MU Extension Horticulturist

The success of your garden depends some upon the proper use and care of garden equipment.

On most farms the job of plowing can be done with the farm tractor. To make the job easier, locate the garden where it is easily accessible with the tractor. Long rows and fences which can be easily opened at each end of the garden will make the job of plowing, seedbed preparation, and cultivation a lot simpler with the farm tractor.

Where a farm tractor or custom plowing is not available, the job of tilling over the garden can be done by a garden tractor, rotary tiller, or spading fork. While garden tractors usually do a good job of cultivation, they are not the most satisfactory piece of equipment for plowing or seedbed preparation.

If you have to turn over the soil with a spading fork, try to plan it so that you have to spade only a small part of your garden at a time.

Use a farm tractor for cultivation if you can but you may have to substitute a garden tractor, rotary tiller, or the wheel cultivator.

These implements will not take care of all the weeds. Here the best answer for home gardens is still the hand hoe. If you use a light hoe keep it sharp as a razor. Hoe out the weeds when they are small and you will find the job a lot easier. Mulching also goes a long way in controlling weeds, and we have several chemicals that if used properly, will help control weeds on certain vegetables.

Don't forget to check your sprayers before you need to use them this year. Check the hose and the main tank for leaks. Check the pump to be sure enough pressure develops. Check for clogged nozzle. If the sprayer was used last year for weed or brush control, clearly mark it for such use and don't use it in your garden.

Windbreak Showing Held at Farm

The John Wilson farm was the scene of a new windbreak setting Tuesday, March 19. Those assisting with the tree plantings were: Glen Frisbee, John Hainen, John Turner, Leonard DeBord, Raymod Nagel, Jack Alfrey, and Cloyce Wilson. Otis Thorburn and Chester Vermaas, representatives of the Conservation Commission, supervised the plantings.

Windbreaks are valuable in that they improve the appearance of a farm, help to reduce fuel bills and protect livestock. In tests conducted by the Lake States Forest Experiment Station 22.9 per cent less fuel was required to heat a house protected by a windbreak.

Dairymen and livestock feeders valued their windbreaks from $500 to $900 annually in lowering feed costs and reducing loss in weight and production during severe weather. Stock will often leave a good barn during cold weather to congregate behind a good windbreak that protects lots and buildings.

The benefits of a good windbreak extend more than 10 times the height of the trees. No windbreak should be closer than 100 feet to the buildings, roads or feed lots to be protected, or drifting snow will be a problem.

On the Wilson farm the first row was multiflora rose set in six feet from the fence. The spacings within this row was six inches between each plant. The second row was over seven feet from the multiflora row. This row was Scotch Pine set at 6½-foot intervals. The next two rows were seven feet apart and 6½ feet between trees in the row.

All plantings were made against the straight wall of a plow furrow. The plants were covered by filling the furrow with the plow. The rear tire was run over the furrow to pack the soil around the roots.

Windbreak plantations need to be permanently fenced from livestock. Cultivation is very important for the first year or two.

Pettis County Excess Wheat Deadline Near

Pettis County farmers who have "excess" wheat acreage have only a short time to dispose of it and thus qualify for price support and Soil Bank Acreage Reserve payments. C. A. Staples, chairman of the Pettis County ASC Committee, said this week. The deadline for disposing of this excess wheat acreage in this county is June 1.

If farmers dispose of their excess wheat acreage within the stated time, they can bring their farms into compliance with both the wheat price-support program and the wheat Acreage Reserve program, Staples said.

Both these programs specify that only farmers who are in compliance with their acreage allotments are eligible to receive (1) price support on their 1937 wheat crop, and (2) 1937 Soil Bank payments on wheat land placed in the Acreage Reserve.

All growers who have excess wheat acreage which they must dispose of before the deadline will be notified. If farmers have any questions about compliance with the wheat farm allotment, they are urged to get in touch immediately with the County ASC office for further information.

mark it for such use and don't use it in your garden.

GOOD FARMING

in Pettis County

By MERLE VAUGHAN
County Extension Agent

Dates Ahead

April 5 Livestock Feeders Day, Columbia.

Plan to Attend April 5

The complete program for the annual Livestock Feeder Day at the University, April 5, has not been announced. However, it is always a good one. Three topics announced to date include irrigation with regard to pastures, beef production testing, and the reasons for "dark cutting" beef.

It is also an opportunity to renew friendships. Many livestock producers make a habit of attending every year where they rub shoulders and shake hands with folks they have met previously at this event.

The program will be in Jesse Auditorium on the Red Campus. The exact starting time has not been announced. We will plan to take one car from the office. We will also be glad to act as the clearing house so other folks may pool rides and travel together. Just call the office telling that you need a ride or can take so many and we will try to take it from there.

Hog Contest

Our new dairy cow production testing program called weigh-a-day-a-month is moving along quite well with 201 cows from seven herds on test. The second month's weighing was done March 15 and already folks can see a pattern of what their cows are doing.

We can handle more herds. If you are interested call or stop at the office. The testing charges are 60 cents per producing cow for the year. The only other charges are $5 for a scales if you don't have one and $1 for a herd book.

Now to the hog contest. We can take entries up to April 14. They are due in Kansas City April 15. However, we have until June 15 to designate litters to enter. W. S. (Bill) Williams of Route 2 called me the other day that he had five litters that he wanted to enter. Five litters is the minimum but you can enter any number above that.

All that is needed at Kansas City is litter age and that the pigs be earmarked so litters can be identified. However, we would like to also help weigh the pigs at 35 or 56 days for some records. We are keeping with the College of Agriculture.

Please let me know if you are interested.

Calves Should Be Dehorned First 6 Weeks

Many Missouri beef cattle herd owners have already taken care of any dehorning problems they might have in their 1957 calf crop, says Bill Pugh, University of Missouri extension animal husbandry specialist.

Dehorning is one of the things that need to be done to make calves bring all they're worth whether they are sold as feeder stock or fed on the farm.

A calf dehorned at two to six weeks of age is affected less by the operation at that age than if it's done following weaning.

Of course, the fact that it's easier is obvious. A small calf weighing 100 to 200 pounds is much easier to handle than one weighing 400 to 600 pounds.

There is, too, the matter of death loss. A nursing calf has more resistance to possible infection than he does after weaning.

Cattlemen who feed their calves find dehorned animals easier to feed and losses from horn bruises eliminated.

Missouri producers intending to sell their 1957 calf crop in any of the several cooperative feeder calf sales held over the state each fall must have them dehorned, Pugh points out. All Missouri sales refuse to accept consignments of horned stock.

Some cattlemen who haven't tried are skeptical of success in dehorning a small calf. They doubt that a calf less than a week old can be dehorned and not have horn stubs grow back. However, many producers use this method altogether and have had excellent results.

Various methods are used in dehorning. Success depends upon how well the cells around the base of the horn are destroyed. The old rule of getting a ring of skin and hair with the horn is a good one to follow in dehorning Pugh says.

There are three or four methods currently used with good results when handled correctly. One method is a caustic paste or stick that destroys the horn by chemical action. This material is most effective when used on the horn when the calf is from two or three days old up until it is a week or 10 days old.

Dehorning tubes do a good job. They can be used from the time the horn button appears until the calves are six to seven weeks old. There are different sized tubes — Nos. 2, 3, and 4 — and experience will soon teach a person which is the best to use on animals of different size. Pugh advises the beginner to use a tube a size larger than the one that appears to be most suitable for the best job.

Tubes also do an excellent job when used correctly.

Another tool that some persons prefer over all others is the Barnes dehorner. It is a good tool to use, too, Pugh says.

Holding the calf while dehorning is done in several ways including, of course, throwing the calf or holding him in a chute. There are quite a few small chutes in use over Missouri built especially for working the small calf.

Castration, along with dehorning, is another job that is best done early in the calf's life. Pugh recommends a knife for this job as this is a sure method of avoiding staggy calves and yearlings that annually cost Missouri producers a lot of money.

176 Bushel Corn Per Acre

High Production Method Proved with 157.84 Bu. 4-Yr. Average

From 14 year old Douglas Weekly of Cooper County comes results of a four year trial of MFA Anhydrous Ammonia (82% Nitrogen) on corn. Doug says: "Lots of people have asked how I manage to grow such high corn yields. I tell them all: plant thick and give the corn extra nitrogen in the form of Anhydrous Ammonia. I raised 152.26 bushels in 1953 . . . 132 bushels in 1954. In 1955 my yield climbed to 170.40 when I used 150 pounds to the acre. This year I shot the works with 170 pounds and harvested 176.42 bushels to the acre." MFA Anhydrous Ammonia will give your corn that same high-yield kick. Particularly suited to dry-weather farming. And THIS YEAR, MFA's NEW DO-IT-YOURSELF PLAN cuts your Nitrogen bill down lower than ever in history. Visit your MFA exchange now for complete particulars.

Carthage Unit Wins State Championship Rifle Shoot

Match Is Held In Sedalia's Guard Armory

The Headquarters and Service Co., 135th Tank Bn., Carthage, in the state championship rifle shoot for the Missouri National Guard here Sunday, successfully defended their 1956 title. The Carthage team fired a 1336, six points below their 1956 mark of 1342. It is the third time the Carthage team has won the state title.

The state contest was conducted at the Sedalia National Guard Armory under the National Rifle Association rules and conditions. Five teams which had won titles in their respective areas participated. Second honors went to Company "B", 735th Ordnance Battalion, Jefferson City, with a score of 1327. This team won the state title in 1955. Third place went to Headquarters Company, 140th Infantry, Cape Girardeau with a 1317 score.

The 180th Bomb Squadron, Missouri Air National Guard at St. Joseph, placed fourth with a score of 1293. Headquarters and Headquarters Co. 2d Bn., 138th Infantry, St. Louis, a team under handicaps, won fifth with 1270 points.

The St. Louis team suffered a setback Saturday evening when one car with four of the team members was in a one-car accident just east of the Marshall Junction on Highway 40. SP3 Michael J. Badalamenti, suffered painful injuries which kept him out of the match while the other three, also hurt, were able to participate under handicaps conditions. Sgt. Leo Vogler, despite a severely hurt hand, did shoot and scored 257 out of a possible 300; Pfc. Ray Walton had 226; and SSC Joseph Garcia shot a 214.

The four injured men returned to St. Louis Sunday evening by train through the courtesy of Maj. Gen. John C. McLaughlin. The car men were riding in was demolished.

Individual scoring honors went to T-Sgt. Robert G. Schnabel, 180th Bomb Squadron, who fired 280 out of a possible 300. Schnabel scored 96 in prone position, 89 in kneeling position and a 95 in standing position.

Two tied for second place, Sfc. Jerry L. Quintard of the Headquarters and Service Co., 135th Tank Battalion, Carthage, and SP3 Francis X. Scherer, Headquarters Co., 140th Infantry, Cape Girardeau. Both had a score of 273. Third highest score was that of 2nd Lt. Robert P. Hubbard, Headquarters and Headquarters Co. 2d Bn., 138th Infantry, with a total of 271.

Two others had perfect scores of 100 in firing from a prone position. They were SP2 Almon C. Pearce and SP2 Walter E. Dye, both with Company B, 735 Battalion, Jefferson City.

The teams left immediately after the shoot to return to their homes.

Debate Flares Over Italian Make Cars After Florida Race

SEBRING, Fla. (AP)—A new argument was raging today over which Italian factory—Maserati or Ferrari—produces the toughest cars in the world.

The debate flared up among sports car racing fans after Maserati had swept top honors in Saturday's 12-hour International Grand Prix of endurance around the perilous Sebring air terminal course.

Juan Fangio and Stirling Moss, who are ranked 1-2 among the Grand Prix drivers, flashed across the finish line in that order to give Maserati a clean sweep of top honors in the race — one of seven in the world in which sports car makers win points toward world championships.

It was a surprising triumph, since Ferrari had won the 1956 world championship and taken a quick lead in the 1957 competition by winning the first Grand Prix race on the world calendar, the 1,000 mile event in Buenos Aires Jan. 20.

Two Democrat Cage Teams Bow Saturday

Both Democrat basketball teams suffered defeat last Saturday night at Whittier Gym as the Columbia Tribune 7th grade team won over the Democrat seventh graders 26-18. In the second game of the doubleheader, the First Christian Church team of Columbia tossed in a field goal with less than a minute to play to win 20-18.

Facing a height disadvantage, the Democrat seventh graders played scrappy ball and went into the fourth quarter with a two-point advantage. The Tribune banged home three quick field goals and the Democrat team was behind to stay. Ronnie Mulberry paced the Democrat attack with eight points although the two tall Tribune boys, Richardson and Fearheller, were high point men with 14 and 11 points respectively.

The second game was a thriller right down to the wire, with Tex Williams, Columbia forward, tossing in a one-hander from 20 feet out in the final minute to break an 18-18 tie. Breaking down fast, the Democrat then missed two chances at the basket before Columbia gained possession and held the ball at midcourt when the final whistle blew.

Gary Stout and Jim Miller led the Democrat scoring with eight points apiece. Williams led all scorers with ten points.

Cardinals Expect Big Results From Pitcher

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP)—The St. Louis Cardinals are looking for some king-size dividends from pitcher Sam Jones after his hurling yesterday in a 1-0 victory over Milwaukee.

Jones, usually a pitcher with marked control difficulties, hurled seven scoreless innings, struck out six and walked none.

The seven-inning stint was the longest any Cardinal pitcher has turned in this spring.

For the past two seasons, Jones—obtained from the Chicago Cubs — has led the National League moundsmen in strikeouts as well as bases on balls.

The winning pitcher also scored the only run. Loser Juan Pizarro walked him, gave up a single to Don Blasingame and watched Jones score on a ground ball in the third inning.

A's Pitching Jumps Notch After 4-0 Win

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla. (AP)—Kansas City Athletics pitching has jumped a notch as the result of yesterday's one-hit, 4-0 whitewash administered by Tom Morgan and Tom Gorman to the Washington Senators.

The pair showed mid-season form in allowing only 25 men to face them in a game reeled off in an hour and 37 minutes.

The A's now have given up only 31 runs in their last 10 games, although their season record in the grapefruit circuit stands at 7-8.

Washington's long hit was a line single to center by Eddie Yost in the fourth. The hit came against Morgan, who hurled the first five innings.

Morgan has given up only three runs in 15 innings this spring.

Tar Heels Win NCAA Title In Thriller

KANSAS CITY (AP)—The North Carolina Tar Heels defied the percentages and odds to win their first NCAA basketball championship by beating the Kansas Jayhawks 54-53 in a triple-overtime Saturday night.

Playing before a jam-packed crowd of 10,500, most of them pro-Kansas, Coach Jack McGuire's Tar Heels stretched their one-season all-victory record to 32 games. A night earlier they had gone three extra five-minute sessions in beating Michigan State 74-70 in the semi-finals.

The final game of the NCAA's 19th tournament was a championship test between teams rated No. 1 and No. 2 in the Associated Press poll of sportswriters and sportscasters. And it finished according to the script.

A brief scuffle in the second overtime involving two or three players and both coaches enlivened the proceedings.

The title was decided with six seconds remaining in the third overtime when Joe Quigg, a 6-9 junior from Brooklyn, N.Y., made two free throws. Kansas had the last shot, but Quigg blocked that one to insure the Tar Heel victory.

North Carolina played the three overtimes without the services of All America Lennie Rosenbluth, who fouled out with 1:45 remaining in regulation time. His team trailed them by one point, 43-44.

It was tied 46-46 after the first 40 minutes, 48-48 after the first overtime and again 48-48 after the second extra session.

Annual AAU Cage Tournament Today

DENVER (AP)—Ten teams began firing today in the week-long 50th annual AAU basketball tournament.

Two afternoon contests pitted teams from Seattle, Cedar Rapids (Iowa), Long Beach and the Navy, and three more were scheduled tonight.

Five more opening round games Tuesday set the stage for Wednesday's debut of top-seeded Seattle, the defending champion. Bartlesville (Okla.) and other perennial big guns of the upset-sprinkled tourney.

Six of the eight seeded teams drew opening round byes. They are Wichita's National Industrial Basketball League entry, Peoria (Ill.), Denver, Akron (Ohio), Seattle and Bartlesville. All but Seattle are NIBL members. Another NIBL team, Milwaukee, bows in tonight against an outfit from Milford (Conn.).

Seattle and Denver are tabbed as the teams to beat in the upper bracket of the 26-team tourney. Peoria and Bartlesville are the favorites in the lower bracket.

America who was voted the most valuable player of the tournament was the games' leading scorer with 23 points. Rosenbluth had 20. The San Francisco Dons, champions the last two years, defeated Michigan State 67-60 for third place.

Mickey Mantle Injures Ankle During Workout

VERO BEACH, Fla. (AP)—Mickey Mantle, the New York Yankees triple-crown winner, had just about recovered from a badly bruised left thumb when he was struck down again by another of a series of injuries that have plagued him over the years.

While working out in the outfield before yesterday's game with the Dodgers in Miami, Mantle ran into a hole in the turf and suffered a severely strained ligament.

"These things usually heal quickly," said Dr. Sydney Gaynor, the Yanks' team physician, who rushed Mantle to a local hospital for X-rays. "He may be able to run on it in five days or so."

But Dr. Gaynor cautioned against overoptimism, pointing out that it is possible that Mantle will be out of uniform for a good week. He could not say when he will be able to resume full-scale training, but most observers thought it would be about 10 days.

Mantle wears an elastic tape for support around his weak right knee, so it is logical to assume that Manager Casey Stengel will take no chances on permitting his star to return too soon. Should Mantle favor his injured left ankle further injury could result.

Police Check Threatening Telephone Call

SEATTLE (AP)—Police are conducting an investigation into a threatening telephone call received by the wife of a witness who testified last week before the Senate Rackets Investigating Committee in Washington.

Howard Sylvester, a Seattle insurance and public relations executive, said he has given police the name of an employee of the Teamsters Union whom he believes made the call.

Union officials were not available for comment.

Mrs. Sylvester told the police Saturday about the anonymous telephone call she received Thursday evening. That was the day her husband told the Senate committee headed by Sen. McClellan (D-Ark) that the Teamsters spent nearly $600,000 in the fight to defeat a right-to-work initiative in Washington state last year. The initiative was snuffed under in last November's election.

Sylvester also told the committee the union owes him $10,000 for his work in the campaign and that an effort had been made to settle the bill for $1,800.

Mrs. Sylvester delayed telling police about the telephone call until her husband returned from Washington Saturday night. She said the caller told her: "I just want to tell Howard he is a phoney SOB and he'll be sorry he ever testified and I'll get even with him someday."

Sylvester said he is sure he knows the man and that he has no animosity toward him. "But," he added, "he had no business calling my wife and making threats. I am concerned about this threat proposition because they still have some pretty tough boys. I'm apprehensive about what might happen to my wife and children."

The children are Marilyn, 18, a student at Seattle University, and Doug, 15, who attends high school. Mrs. Sylvester said she recognized the man's voice over the telephone.

Sylvester said today he is sure the man is the same Teamsters Union employee who told him after last fall's campaign he would never get the $10,000 from the union.

Town Asks Suicides To Leave Their Names

ODAWARA, Japan (AP)—Town officials at Hakone, a mountain resort about 75 miles southwest of Tokyo, are seeking cooperation from "would-be suicides."

A spokesman said Hakone has become the most popular spot in Japan for committing suicide, with 30 already this year. "We appreciate people seeking our town when dying," he commented, "but at least we'd like them to leave names and addresses."

The spokesman said it cost the town $8,855 or $77 per person to bury the 115 persons who killed themselves here last year.

Most victims were penniless and left no identification.

New Child Protection

LOS ANGELES (AP)—A "block parent" system for protection of schoolchildren from molesters, or in case of injury, is catching on in an area of West Los Angeles.

There are now 83 houses in the Overland Avenue Elementary School area where "block parent" signs are posted in windows. The goal is for 150 in all. The idea is that children going to and from school can take refuge at any "B-P" house.

The signs also mean that the householders are available in case of trouble to call police, parents or an ambulance.

May Restore Old Ship of Admiral Dewey As Public Memorial

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—The Cruiser Olympia Assn., Inc., said today it has "almost won" its three year struggle to restore Adm. Dewey's flagship at Manila Bay to a condition where it can be exhibited as a public memorial.

The Navy had set certain repair standards to make the ship safe for visitors and estimated these repairs would cost $250,000. Francis D. Pastorius, association president, said a Philadelphia firm had offered to repair and alter the ship for $168,000.

The funds, said Pastorius, will be raised by the association.

The Olympia began her naval career in 1895. She was taken out of commission in 1922 and is now at the Philadelphia Navy Yard, in such condition that public visiting is prohibited.

Hold Largest Operation Since World War II

BINGALAN BAY, Philippines (AP)—Thousands of U. S. Marines in full battle gear and war camouflage hit the beach here early today in the largest American amphibious training exercise in the Pacific since World War II.

Under protective cover of Navy and Marine Corps jet aircraft, the first wave of combat-clad Marines jumped onto the dark brown sand on the east coast of Luzon Island some 60 miles northeast of Manila.

The Marines, first of some 20,000, were shuttled ashore by landing craft from a massed armada of 92 ships of the U. S. 7th Fleet. The operations — a test of American military and naval mobility in time of war — are under the over-all command of Vice Adm. Wallace M. Beakley, 7th Fleet commander.

Comouflag — helmeted Leathernecks of the 9th Marine Regiment splashed ashore and drove inland. Helicopters flew Marine units to key positions along the route of the advance up the jungled Corone River valley.

One casualty was recorded today. A Marine jet pilot was killed when his plane crashed while taking off from the naval station at Cebu Point.

The operations, dubbed "Exercise Beacon Hill, will go on until Thursday. Troops and equipment will begin re-embarkation over the weekend.

Authorities Find Map Of Planned Break In

DALLAS (AP)—Gaston Avenue Junior High School authorities found a map last week that started them thinking. It detailed to the last item a plan to break into the school.

Police traced the map to a 14-year-old student and two young accomplices. Officers said the map was expertly drawn and didn't overlook a single factor... except the youth lost it and school officials found it. The boys said the plot wasn't carried out.

The boy was suspended from the school two weeks ago for failing grades.

Manager Shows Empty Drawer to Gunman

DENVER (AP)—A nervy night manager showed an empty cash drawer to an armed gunman to foil an attempted stickup of the Brown Palace Hotel in downtown Denver last night.

When the robber told him "This is a stickup," F. S. Bingenheimer, 60, opened a drawer he knew to be empty. The two exchanged glares. Then the gunman fled.

Spying Charge Seen As Cause For a Suicide

BERN, Switzerland (AP)—Suspicion that he spied against Egypt for France is blamed for the suicide of Atty. Gen. Rene Dubois.

The government announced that the 48-year-old official killed himself Saturday night in his attic with his army pistol.

Dubois got involved in a police probe of espionage at the Egyptian Embassy here. The government emphasized that there was no suggestion he had spied against Switzerland. However, spying against any government is a criminal offense in this neutral country.

A long investigation, initiated in November during the Suez crisis, stemmed from complaints by the Egyptian Embassy that its telephone conversations apparently were being tapped. Federal Police Inspector Max Ulrich, who had access to wire tapping for counter-espionage work, was grilled intensively.

The government said there was "some noteworthy evidence that the attorney general himself may have passed information not concerning Swiss affairs illegally to foreign quarters."

Parliament elected him attorney general in July 1953. He was a Social Democrat and received Socialist support in obtaining the post.

Almost Too Realistic

BRIDGEPORT, W. Va. (AP)—James D. Coston Jr., 15, was playing the part of a dead man in his high school's carnival when the role almost became reality. Coston "lay in state" with a knife stuck in a board atop his chest to appear as if he had been stabbed. When the knife loosened, he tried to straighten it and accidentally stuck it through the board into his chest.

He was taken to a hospital, where his condition was described as satisfactory.

Fire Caused by Chain Reaction of Damage Done by Earthquakes

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—A chain reaction was started by last Friday's convulsive earthquakes that caused a fire—48 hours later.

Asst. Fire Chief Curtis Kirby said the "quake toppled a stack of cartons in the Crown Cork and Seal Co., plant. Unnoticed, the cartons damaged a thermostat and a gas heater became overheated.

An automatic sprinkler system and the city's alert fire department extinguished the resulting fire in 10 minutes yesterday. Kirby estimated damage at about $2,500.

Convicts Are Shot During Dinner Quarrel

FOLSOM, Calif. (AP)—A dinner table dispute over salt is blamed for a vicious fight that ended with two convicts shot and one minus parts of both ears.

Folsom prison authorities said guards shot and wounded both men yesterday when the convicts ignored loud-speaker demands to stop the fight.

The two, both Negroes, were identified as Albert Johnson, 37, a Los Angeles burglar, and Leonard Thompson, 34, a San Francisco burglar.

Thompson, parts of both ears bitten off during the fight, was treated for gun wounds in the leg and forearm and Johnson for an upper leg wound.

The quarrel started when Thompson refused to pass the salt at dinner.

Ike, Macmillan Said to Have Secret Plans

TUCKER'S TOWN, Bermuda (AP)—President Eisenhower and Prime Minister Macmillan today were reported to have spelled out secret policy directives on key world issues in Europe, the Middle East and Asia aimed at pinning down the revitalized British-American partnership.

After the windup of the Big Two's four-day meeting, informants said a number of solid written understandings lay hidden behind the generalities of their joint 800-word communique.

In their 11-point statement, Eisenhower and Macmillan yesterday announced the United States will supply "certain guided missiles" to help hard-up Britain streamline its defenses in the atomic age.

They also offered to swap limited observer facilities with Russia at future nuclear weapon tests — tests which they promised to restrain to lessen the risks of causing genetic damage as a result of radioactive fall-out.

Eisenhower also pledged U.S. cooperation with the military committee of the Baghdad Pact.

Eisenhower and Macmillan promised to support U.N. Secretary General Dag Hammarskjöld's quest for a settlement of the disputes with Egypt over the Gaza Strip, the Gulf of Aqaba and the Suez Canal.

Macmillan told a news conference the talks had been a "great success" because "we've reached a number of conclusions on some large issues. We've tidied up a lot of points, and we've set in motion methods of better cooperation on questions still unresolved."

East Coast Man Sends Help to Kansas Town

SWAMPSCOTT, Mass. (AP)—The snowbound community of Coolidge Kan., yesterday got help from this seacoast town 2,000 miles away.

Forrest Mason arrived at his oil delivery firm office just in time to hear his local two-way radio crackle a message that Coolidge was buried under 10-to-12-foot drifts of snow and needed help.

Mason contacted police, who got a message over the state police Teletype to Kansas.

Mason said atmospheric conditions apparently made it possible to receive the long-distance message on his local two-way radio.

Nehru Proposes Ike, Russians Hold Meeting

NEW DELHI (AP)—Indian Prime Minister Nehru proposed today that President Eisenhower and the Russian leaders meet "face to face" to tackle the problem of disarmament.

Eisenhower on Jan. 2 rejected a proposal by Soviet Premier Bulganin for a big-power summit conference on disarmament. The President said disarmament negotiations should be carried on "within the framework of the United Nations."

Russian and American disarmament proposals "thrown out from a distance" are not enough, Nehru said in opening a foreign policy debate in the lower house of Parliament.

"It is just possible" that a meeting of Eisenhower and the Russian leaders "might lead to something," the Indian leader declared.

Nehru repeated his well-known opposition to military pacts — especially Baghdad and SEATO —

Man's Arrival Could Be Earthquake Omen

POTTSTOWN, Pa. (AP)—Warning to Californians: Martin Hachner plans to return again next year. Hachner, technical manager of the Firestone Plastics Co. here, was in Los Angeles on business the day in January 1956 when a destructive earthquake hit Bak-ersfield and surrounding areas.

And he flew into San Francisco for the day last Friday morning when another series of earth tremors caused millions of dollars in damage.

but did not mention America's joining the military committee of the Baghdad Pact.

"Military pacts seem to operate on the theory that America or the Soviet Union must extend their influence into smaller countries," he declared.

"Instead of spreading the areas of military pacts, the way to peace lies in keeping hands off," the Premier said.

May Like a Movie

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—There's some speculation that Chicago merchant Sol Polk enjoyed the movie "Around the World in 80 Days."

He's just bought $105,885 worth of tickets to it. Polk, proprietor of a big appliance house in Chicago, plans to give the tickets to his customers, at the rate of 100 a performance for a year.

Police Blame

Teenage Midget

In Safecrackings

EVANSVILLE, Ind. (AP) — Police today blamed a three-month series of safecrackings here on two ex-convicts and a 16-year-old midget they used to gain access to buildings by slipping through small holes.

Officers said statements admitting the safecrackings were signed last night by Charles Whitsell Jr., 43-pound, 3-foot-3 Poseyville farm youth, and two Evansville men, Charles Hale, 39, and Charles E. Bodell, 20.

Detective Sergeants Jess Julian and Jack Weber said the teenage midget participated in 25 of the 40 safecrackings which the two men admitted. He squeezed through small openings cut in ceilings and then opened a door for his bigger partners, the officers said.

Hale and Bodell were to be charged today with one of the safe crackings, police said. The boy was to be turned over to juvenile authorities.

Police reported they recovered only $300 of an estimated $18,000 taken in the series of safecrackings that began last December. The burglaries became so common that Mayor J. Vance Hartke canceled leaves and days off for all city policemen.

Determined Thieves

IMPERIAL, Tex. (AP)—Energetic thieves stole a complete oil well drilling rig in a field 22 miles south of here.

Pecos County Deputy Sheriff Leon McDurmon said it must have taken them several days to dismantle the rig.
